

Briggs Ranches

In today's cattle industry there are many top qualities that the commercial cattlemen look for and strive for on purchasing their replacement females or replacement bulls. A lot of those qualities consist of performance, structure and carcass data. These three things have been top priorities for Briggs Ranches since the very beginning. We strive to produce top-quality bulls and females for the seedstock producers based on phenotype, structural soundness and performance data.

For years we have been collecting performance data and have set a strict criteria on our bulls and females alike. For the last two years, we have focused on feedlot and carcass performance on our females and steers in order to help the commercial cattlemen gain more in his or her profits.

We are always looking to keep improving in all fields and are working hard to stay on the right track to add more pounds and profit to every animal from weaning time to slaughter. Staying focused on Feed efficiency is a big part of making a profit, whether at weaning time or in the feedlot, feed efficiency is a key component in profitability. Here is a little summary of all the data we have been collecting.
